ASK COUNCIL TO REFUSE LICENSE CHANGE

Thirty-Seven Sign a Petition Against Granting of Liquor Permit to Manhattan Hotel on Ashland and Barrett.

Request Filed—Maple Bar Proprietors Ask That Their License Be Transferred to New Establishment.

Thirty-seven signatures were attached to a petition received by the council at last night's meeting, protesting against the granting of a saloon license for the Manhattan Hotel, located at the corner of Ashland and Barrett avenues. No reason is given in the petition why the protestants do not want the saloon license granted. The petition was filed.

Immediately after the reading of the protest, Clerk Paris read the application of Gihardi and Pomagni, who conduct Maple Bar, to have their license transferred to the Manhattan Hotel, under the name of S. P. Popen. Referred to the license committee.

ROLLINS & SONS BUY BONDS.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, prominent bonding house, will buy twelve of Richmond's 1912 bonds. An order authorizing the sale of the bonds was made at the council session last night. Each bond will cost $1000.

Jan. 20—Tea by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Wesley Methodist Church at the home of Mrs. Ida Kirby at 239 Seventh street. Meeting will start at 2:30.

OAKLAND OFFERS AID TO SERVICE BUREAU

Rev. Peterson, one of the enthusiastic workers in the newly organized Social Service Bureau, is in receipt of the following letter from Grace Graham, assistant secretary of the Associated Charities of Oakland. The letter, which follows, is self-explanatory:

"We are very glad that there is to be an Associated Charities or Social Service Bureau in Richmond, as it has often distressed us not to know where to refer applications for relief that have been called to our attention in your part of the country."

"Hearing that you were especially interested in the organization of the new society, we are taking the liberty of sending you a little literature along this line that may be of assistance to you."

"If there is any way in which we can be of assistance let us know. The older societies of our sort always feel responsible in a way for the birth of a new society."

"Yours most sincerely,
"GRACE GRAHAM,
"Assistant Secretary."

Rev. Peterson will journey to Oakland in a few days to consult with the heads of the work there in regard to details that it is planned to follow out in Richmond.

Labor Council To Urge Congressman To Work For The Seamen's Bill

Contribute to Organization Fund of Women's Trade Union League.

Heckman Delivers Report of Executive Board Meeting in San Francisco.

A committee was appointed by the Central Labor Council last night to send a telegram to Congressman Curry, urging him to work for the early passage of the seamen's bill at this session of Congress.

The council subscribed to the monthly Legislative Bulletin, published by Franklin Hitchhams. The Bulletin prints the full progress of legislation and the vote of each legislator on the same.

A contribution was voted to the fund of the Women's Trade Union League, which has headquarters in Chicago. The fund is to be used for organizing the women workers of the country.

Business Agent F. W. Heckman reported the proceedings of the executive board of the State Federation of Labor at its meeting last Sunday in San Francisco.

HOSPITAL JOB WILL SOON BE UNIONIZED IS B. A. REPORT

"I want to play the game square," is the statement made to Business Agent Heckman of the Building Trades by Contractor Boyd of the firm of Boyd, McLean & Kerr, which has the county hospital contract.

In compliance with a request made by Boyd, Heckman will today go to San Francisco to confer with him.

It is believed that the job will be shortly unionized throughout. It was struck several days ago.

MURDER SUSPECT WAS LOCAL MAN

The third suspect to be captured in the search for the Fessett murderer, "Gus" Williams, told the San Francisco police yesterday that he at one time resided in Richmond having worked for the Standard Oil Co. and the Barber Asphalt Co. Williams is said to be an inveterate user of cocaine. He was captured in the San Francisco Chinatown.

SOON COMPLETE HEADQUARTERS

Work on the completion of the lounging room in the quarters of Fire Company No. 1, on the west side, is progressing rapidly. It will be completed this week. The lockers are being moved into the dormitory. The fire ladders will, when the work is complete, have plenty of lounging room during their idle moments.

FIGHT BETWEEN A GERMAN "TAUBE" AND A WAR AERO OF THE ALLIES.

One of the fast flying German "Taube," so called because of its resemblance to a dove, is shown in this photo endeavoring to escape from a pursuing French Aero which is equipped with a rapid fire machine gun. This photo was made just as the gunner aboard the French ship was training the machine gun on the German "Taube," which was threatening to outdistance him. The action took place above the battlefield of Arras.

Cops Feed and Clothe "Vag" With Odd Ambition

Austin Harris, the Nevada sheepherder, taken into custody on Tuesday by the police, when he was found wandering the streets in an aimless way, was released from the city jail yesterday. The officers dug into their pockets and gave Harris enough money to take him to Oakland and to buy him a couple of meals. The well-groomed Harris, who boarded a car on the west side yesterday and the Harris who was arrested with a year's growth of beard on his face, and a good pair of shoes, practically new hat, and a good overcoat on, were two different appearing individuals. Used to the hard knocks of the world, Harris cannot understand why he was treated so kindly. His ambition is to get a job as dishwasher in an Oakland restaurant.

CLYDE N. WHITE WILL ARRANGE FOR SEX HYGIENE LECTURES

In addition to the report of Mrs. Elizabeth Johns, to be given before the Civic Center Club this afternoon at their meeting in the Lincoln auditorium, Clyde N. White will speak. The meeting will be at 2:30.

Clyde N. White is the executive secretary of the California Social Hygiene Society, and a speaker of rare ability. He will speak relative to the campaign of sex education, which his society is making in this state.

White will appear before the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union meeting at the Presbyterian church this afternoon also and before labor bodies, relative to arranging a schedule of lectures on the vital problems of his cause of campaign.

White is endorsed by the State Board of Health.

COUNCIL APPROPRIATES $2000 FOR EXHIBIT

There was no opposition to the final passage of the resolution calling for an appropriation of $2000 for the Richmond Exposition Commission, at last night's meeting of the council.

Head of National Museum Exhibit at Exposition Visits Brother in Richmond

I. E. Cole and son, Frank H. Cole, arrived yesterday from Washington, D. C., to spend a visit of several months with T. I. Cole and family, 1025 Barrett avenue.

It has been 25 years since T. I. Cole has seen his father and brother and the meeting was a happy one.

The senior Cole has been employed by the government as pressman in the Government Printing Office for 22 years. Frank Cole has been employed in the National Museum for 20 years. He has been sent by the government to erect and be in charge of the National Museum exhibit and the Landless flying machine at the P. F. I. E.

Cole senior is a Civil War veteran. He is 88 years old and remarkably strong and active for his age. He will return to work for Uncle Sam after his California visit.

BANK DIRECTORS ELECT OFFICERS

The following officers were elected at the last meeting of the board of directors of the First National Bank and the Richmond Savings Bank:

Clinton E. Worden, L. D. Dimm, Charles J. Carr, C. J. Sheppard, V. A. Fenner, C. H. Pulso, C. H. Robertson, J. E. Beck, James K. Lynch, J. N. Quay and J. C. Black. Charles Cray, manager and vice president, was made cashier.

No Opposition to Cutting of So. Pac. Assessment and Raising Pullman

Recommendation of City Engineer Concurred in by City Council.

One Figure Is Out $8000 and Sleeping Car Company's Raised $3000.

With the adoption of the report of City Engineer Chapman and the street committee, appointed to look into the matter of the assessments on the job of paving Pullman avenue, the matter was finally settled by the council last night.

The assessment of the Southern Pacific was cut $8000 from the original assessment, the Pullman Company assessment was raised $3000, and there was a $3000 raise on the assessment of all the other property in the district combined.

Judge Allen of Oakland appeared for the S. P. Co. He declared he was satisfied with the action of the council in making the $8000 deduction.

A. J. Coogan represented the Pullman Company. He asked for more time in which to get the matter of the increase before the head offices of his company. His request was overruled by the passage of the resolution.

Attorney C. M. Kirkbride, representing the Southern Pacific Company, the company that did the paving, appeared during the deliberation over the matter and asked that there be no longer delay in finally passing the assessments.

BURGLARS ENTER OFFICES BUT GET NOTHING

Burglars entered the offices of the Enterprise Brewing Company and the Sonoma Winery, located at Sixteenth and Nevin, early yesterday the exhibit, while the remaining rifling desks and forcing open the small safe in the winery office, made their escape.

As far as known nothing was taken from either place by the burglars. Entrance into both offices was made by smashing a hole in pane of the windows.

Although the police made an investigation of the scene of the burglary yesterday afternoon, no clues were discovered that have led to the arrest of any suspects.

KINDERGARTEN TO HOLD P. M. SESSIONS

It is probable, because of the unexpectedly large attendance, the kindergarten at the Lincoln school will shortly inaugurate afternoon sessions, splitting the present enrollment into two classes. The very youngest of the little scholars will be taught in the afternoon.

W. T. Helms, superintendent of schools, said last night that the attendance at the city's two new kindergartens has proved a surprise. Fifty-two are enrolled at the Lincoln kindergarten and 20 at the Peres school. Thirty-five pupils, said Helms, is about all that one teacher can capably handle.

NO DECISION IS REACHED ON CLOSING OF STREETS

City Will Apparently Be in Trouble No Matter What Step It Takes—Fine Legal Point Involved.

Further Consideration Is Postponed Until Next Meeting of Council Monday Night—Attorney for Protestants There.

No decision was reached on the protest entered last night against the closing of portions of Macdonald and Barrett avenues and Ohio street by the council.

A fine legal point was raised over the closing of the portion of Ohio street. The city of Richmond is in for trouble in the future, no matter what steps it takes.

If Ohio street is left open the city violates an old agreement with the Santa Fe Company, and if it closes a portion of the street, and does damage to property holders it is liable for a suit for damages.

Attorney J. H. Johnson, appearing for the Mintner estate, which owns land near the part of Ohio street that it is proposed to close, declared to the council that if the street is closed it will mean a material loss to property owners, as it will cut off convenient access to their property. As things are now, Johnson stated, wagons and machines are able to cross at Ohio street and save time and effort.

City Attorney Hall declared that if the property holders can show, they have land that has been damaged by the closing of the street, they have cause for action for damages against the city.

Johnson declared that the interests of the people of the city should be considered as much as those of the railroad. He said that if the council had made a bargain in advance with the railroad, it could not really consider the rights of the Mintner estate and other property holders in the matter.

On motion of Councilman Follett, further consideration of the matter was delayed until next Monday night's meeting.

JOHN WORD LOW BIDDER ON CITY JOB

John Word's low bid of $3616.61 for the improving of a small portion of Twentieth street, and paving the street with Richmond Standard macadam, resulted in the awarding of the contract for the job to him at the session of the council last night.

The other bids were: E. H. Higgins, $3889.64; Raven Company, $3557.95; L. L. Page, $4056.12; Dooling Brothers, $3831.11; Galbraith & Jones, $3764.45.

E. H. Higgins was the lowest bidder for two blocks of work on Montgomery avenue. He was awarded the bid. His bid was $2288.40. The other bids were: Dooling Brothers, $2522.86; Frank Agaler, $2410.53; Galbraith & Jones, $2519.32; S. O. Rogers, $2146.98.

A BLOCKHEAD ANGEL.

Editorially the San Francisco Bulletin calls public opinion "the angel with the flaming sword," and explains that public opinion has "done for Colorado what mine guards, militia and United States regular soldiers were unable to do. It has tamed Colorado's mining districts."

From all this we must admit that public opinion is some angel. But we read a little more and find out that "though it could not prevent the miners from losing their gallant fight for the right to organize, it has forced a tacit apology from the fiercest of their enemies (the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company) and a promise of better conditions to come."

That seems to be rather a small victory for an angel with a flaming sword to achieve.

A "tacit apology" and a "promise of better conditions to come" is a poor substitute for the real thing.

If we were to personify public opinion, we would call it a blockhead rather than an angel with a flaming sword.

Public opinion wasn't with the Colorado miners in their long struggle prior to the Ludlow massacre. It takes such a massacre for public opinion to arouse itself, and when it does arouse itself, according to the above, it gets a tacit apology and a promise.

Public opinion hasn't won much for the unions. Public opinion has called the men working the eight hour day lazy, good-for-nothings, and strikers "the lawless element."

"The mine owners are chastened," says the Bulletin editorial. "They have only to lift up their eyes to see public opinion of the nation, like an angel with a flaming sword, standing guard at the entrance of their canyons, not to be frightened or driven away."

What the mine owners do see when they lift up their eyes is a stumbling dolt who couldn't be aroused with anything less than a swift kick in the face.

A DELEGATE FROM JAPAN.

A suggestion has been made that a representative of Japanese workers be delegated from that country to attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held in San Francisco in November.

It isn't probable that there would be any objection and quite possible that some good might come of the arrangement.

The labor movement of this country, we take it, objects to the yellow people for only economic reasons and not because of any "racial hatred."

The labor movement has no nationality. The labor organizations of Japan are striving for the same goal as the American unions.

To accept a representative worker of Japan as a fraternal delegate to the A. F. of L. convention might lead to a little better understanding between the races. It certainly could do no harm.

Japanese workers now underbid American workers, are willing to work longer hours and bear down on the wage scale. For that reason the workers of this country must fight against unrestricted immigration of them.

But while that is necessary, it is probably just as easy to explain to the yellow man: "You, in your present condition, play the Dickens with the meager gains that we manage to win from the ruling class. So keep away. If you organize here and in your own country you will help yourselves and the world labor movement."

"However, under the skin, we are brothers. Some day things may be different."

And we might add: "Throttle your own jingoists, as we are trying to throttle ours, and the 'yellow peril' and its attendant rumors of war will vanish from the earth."

A CAREER

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Edward Wilkins was a farmer boy who when he was but seven years old showed signs of a towering ambition. Even at that tender age he discerned that while there were a number of sources of power, the one that covered the widest field was wealth. At any rate, he saw persons living in fine houses and driving about in style, and he not only envied them, but resolved that as soon as he was able to accumulate money it should be the object of his life.

When Edward was fourteen he said goodbye to his father and mother and went to the city to begin a career. Being bright and ready at all times for work, he found a situation and, not only kept it, but advanced rapidly. As he grew older there was no desire in him for money in itself, but for the power and prominence it would give him. Except for the first few years he spent in the city, he did not accumulate by saving. The fortune that came to him was the result rather of daring operations, for which he seemed to have a genius.

After awhile Edward Wilkins had accumulated so much money that it seemed impossible he should ever be poor. His safety lay in having so much capital that he could carry through any scheme he undertook. If he wished to buy all the corn in the country and hold it at his own price he was able to do so. Did he choose to buy a railway he could first depress the stock, then purchase it and hold it at his own valuation.

Wilkins had no desire to exercise the power his wealth gave him. He was content with knowing that he possessed it. He did not care for political preferment; he took no interest in influencing the course of the government.

When the great financier was forty years of age he had reached the summit of his ambition. He had acquired enormous power through his wealth, but since the exercise of that power would give him no enjoyment he had come to the end of his desire. He was like Alexander, who complained because there were no more kingdoms to conquer.

When an active brain tires of what has occupied and fed it there comes a craving for something to take its place. One such person will spend years building a sumptuous residence, which is more likely to be a sepulcher than a home. Another will turn author, taking comfort in giving to the world theories for which it has no use. Wilkins, now that he had reached his goal in half a lifetime, began to wonder what would be the end of the other half. After a continued rise to the summit would he descend again to end his career in the valley?

One thing he had lived long enough to recognize. Life appeared to him a constant shifting. Nothing seemed to endure unless it was insubstantial, and even that, though slowly, was continually changing its form. There were mountains where there had been valleys and valleys where there had been mountains. Cities had been buried for centuries, forgotten, then uncovered to serve as curiosities. Whole sections of land had slid down into the sea and passed out of sight.

What would become of his great fortune? He knew that after his death it would pass back into the great ocean of wealth. But would he retain it for the rest of his life? Now that he had achieved it he no longer valued it and cared not so much what was to become of it as what was to become of him. Enough to give him the ordinary comforts essential to old age was all he desired. But that much was of great moment to him.

One night he dreamed a vivid dream. He dreamed that he returned to the farm and was a boy again. Yet he possessed all the experience he had acquired. His ambition was gone. He said to himself: "Here I am, and here I wish to remain. My body is not as it was, full of life. It is tired. All I desire is rest."

It was a strange dream, this old spirit in a young body. It made a marked impression on him at the time, but gradually passed out of his mind with other forgotten things.

When Wilkins found that he had attained his desire he bethought himself what he could do to replace the object he had lost. Like many other rich men under similar circumstances, he decided to build himself a magnificent residence. He had long owned the farm on which he had been born. His father and mother had died there, and he had no use for the place. So the house was shut up and the land left untilled, though he gave orders that the house and fences should be kept in repair. The farm marked his beginning; the palace he was about to build would mark his end.

He spent a year or so designing for his residence, then began to build. Four years passed, and it was not finished. Indeed, he did not wish it finished. He clung to building it for something to occupy him. When it was complete and he moved in he seemed lost in it. It was big enough for a hundred families, and there was only himself to use it.

One day when he felt ill and tired and lonely he concluded to go to the farm. He had not been there in many years. The view in front of the house he had always loved, and he sat down on the little porch to look at it. Then he remembered his dream. He never left this place of his birth in a few weeks he died.

LABOR NEWS

"In unity there is strength, united we stand divided we fall."

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES ARE NOT EFFICIENT SAYS STATE LABOR COMMISSIONER

"San Francisco employment agents, almost consistently, are obeying the laws that are on the statute books of the state. This is a statement by Labor Commissioner McLaughlin. But still the labor commissioner wants them legislated out of existence. The reasons he gives are these:

"The private employment agencies are inefficient. They are unable, through lack of control, such as could be had in agencies established by the state, to provide jobs for men when the men are in need of jobs, as at the present time.

"They are purely for commercial purposes and have no other object than to secure the fees that are paid out by persons in need of work.

"The employment agencies each year accept approximately half a million dollars from workers for whom they secure positions. A far less sum than this would suffice to operate such agencies established and conducted by the state.

"The money is now expended by the state in enforcing the laws which govern these agencies would help materially in operating state agencies."

The last, but not the least of the reasons given by the labor commissioner to back his views is this:

"The state employment bureaus would have men in charge who would receive no greater compensation from a larger number of men placed in positions, but who would be paid a regular salary by the state for handling the interests of the workers who are often unemployed under the present system, and for keeping constantly in touch with employers throughout the state who are in need of labor."

THINKS REPRESENTATIVE JAP WORKER SHOULD BE AT LABOR MEETING

That a representative wage earner of Japan should be invited to attend the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, to be held in San Francisco next November, is the suggestion coming from the Rev. Sidney Gulick, D. D., lecturer in the Imperial University, Kyoto, Japan, as a means of bringing about a better understanding among the wage earners of Japan and the United States.

This subject was discussed with several labor leaders by Dr. Gulick during his recent visit to San Francisco. No serious objection was offered by the labor men approached on the subject. Most of them assured Dr. Gulick that a representative wage earner of Japan would be shown every courtesy extended fraternal delegates from foreign countries to the annual conventions of the American Federation of Labor.

A suggestion came from one labor man that would a representative Japanese wage earner be found who could speak and understand the English language, it might be mutually profitable to have him visit the central labor bodies throughout the state, and attend the annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor, to be held at San Francisco in November.

Rosa in October, prior to attending the convention in San Francisco of the American Federation of Labor.

It was the opinion of Dr. Gulick that in visiting the various labor bodies in California and attending the A. F. of L. convention a representative Japanese wage earner would learn much that would be helpful to the wage earners in Japan and would ultimately result in establishing more friendly relations between the workers of the two countries.

In agreeing with the labor people that unrestricted immigration of Asiatics would be most disastrous in its economic results, he nevertheless felt that the labor movement should endeavor to improve the conditions of Japanese wage earners, both here and in Japan, and that by so doing it would ultimately lead to a satisfactory solution of the immigration problem.

Dr. Gulick called for Japan on the Mongolia last Saturday. He expects to return in March, when he may be able to definitely announce whether a representative Japanese wage earner will be in attendance at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor to be held in San Francisco in November.

LANE ELECTED TO UNION OFFICE

Business Manager William Lane reported at the meeting of the Lathrop Union last night that he anticipated a satisfactory settlement of the county hospital job in a few days. The job was struck several days ago.

The union elected the following officers: John Watson Sr., president; George Obin, vice president; William L. Lane, business manager; J. O. Dahl, secretary; J. W. Rogers, treasurer; William Watson, sergeant-at-arms; delegates to the Building Trades Council, J. W. Rogers, J. O. Dahl and William Watson.

LABOR COUNCIL WANTS FARRIS REPRIEVED

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 13.—Asking clemency from Governor Johnson for Ralph Farris, condemned to be hanged Friday, and opposing capital punishment as a barbarism, the Kern County Labor Council has passed a resolution and sent a telegram to the governor stating that 1100 members ask that the former Bakersfield boy be reprieved.

Farris' father and mother live here, and much sympathy is expressed for the parents of the young man condemned to die for killing a railroad man while robbing a train near Los Angeles.

WILL EVICT MANY STRIKING MINERS

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 13.—All coal mines in eastern Ohio, where 16,000 men are now on strike, will be reopened at 7 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced here today. The operators also asserted that all strikers failing to return to work would be evicted from the company's houses. The strikers quit work ten months ago, when their demands for a higher wage scale were refused.

Richmond now has a population of approximately 22,000. We have room for 100,000 more. Help get that 100,000.

Forbes-Robertson and Laura Cowill in "Hamlet"

The most important dramatic event of the season is the farewell visit of the greatest English-speaking actor, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, to the Macdonough theater, Oakland, this week, with matinees on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

This is Forbes-Robertson's positively last visit to the Pacific Coast. At the close of his present American tour he will retire from the stage forever. He is recognized as the greatest living actor and his visit to California is without doubt the most notable theatrical event not only of this, but of many seasons past and to come. He will be supported by his entire London company of fifty players, including the beautiful young Scotch actress, Miss Laura Cowill, who has won considerable success and distinction this season for her work with this noted player.

Forbes-Robertson's Oakland program opened with "Hamlet" on Monday night, Jan. 11. Forbes-Robertson's Hamlet is said to be the most remarkable impersonation of this character the modern stage has seen. He has never before presented his Hamlet in the west. "Hamlet" will also be played at the Saturday matinee.

WRONG SILVAS IN ACCOUNT

Inadvertently the News printed the names of James Silvas as the man who was mixed up in the free-for-all fight at the Curtis Bar last week, and who was arrested. This was an error. The name of the Silvas who was arrested was C. H. Silvas.

"Tales of a Million Dollars"

$75,000 to Stop the Car

Col. W. S. Rheem was running the E. S. & S. Street Railway, which ran by the corner of Twenty-third and Macdonald avenue, Richmond. John Nicholl owned the land all around.

"Colonel," said John, "I'll give you a chunk of land on that corner, worth $2000, if you will stop your cars there."

The Colonel remembered the grain fields around that corner and smiled to think that one little piece could be worth $2000. But he stopped the cars.

That was seven years ago. Since then 35 feet have been taken off one side of the piece for streets, and 20 feet off for another. Today it is part of Burg Bros., Nicholl-Macdonald Ave. Business Center Tract.

And the last report says that it has been sold to a Los Angeles for $75,000!

John Nicholl knew what that piece was worth—and what it was going to be worth. The way he appraised it is exactly the way we outline in our book, "How to Buy Real Estate for Profit." YOU can do it—for we will send this book FREE FOR MAILING THE COUPON BELOW.

Couple Celebrate Silver Wedding

The completion of 25 years of happy married life was the motif of a silver wedding anniversary at the home of George Schramm, 115 Montecito avenue, Tuesday evening. Celebration of the passing of the quarter-century mark of domestic felicity continued throughout the afternoon and late into the night.

A mock wedding was performed by Rev. C. S. Linsley of the Episcopal church, and again, just like twenty-five years ago, their many friends crowded around the happy couple to extend their best wishes for a gold, pearl and diamond wedding.

In the afternoon whist was played. Those winning prizes were: First, Mrs. Renal Laufer; second, Mrs. Parker; third, Mrs. Bates; fourth, Mrs. Church; door prize, Mrs. Conn.

The afternoon was given over to the ladies and those present were Mesdames Renal Laufer, Anna Parker, Marie Church, Bates, Mary Carron, J. Downs, Louise Lock, Stoddard, Richard Great-house, Lulu Roe, Woodworth, Del-trich, Duff, Lucas, Wunderlich, Monroe, Lee Adams, Neu, O'Gorman, Alexander and T. G. Conn.

A real house-warming at the new parsonage is planned by Mrs. Clifton Bradley, president of the aid society. Refreshments will be served. A general invitation is extended the public to attend.

GET BEHIND THE LEAGUE AND BOOST IT HARD

There is absolutely no question that if Richmond enters the proposed State League the fans of this city will have an opportunity to see a brand of ball that will be far behind that dished up by the Coast Leaguers.

Unless there is the proper amount of enthusiasm exhibited all over the circuit there will be no league. The fans make the game and the local management has its ear to the ground in an effort to find out if Richmond fans want this city in the league.

If you like the league talk it up. Tell the management about it. Tell your friends about it. And do it now.

HARRY GRAYSON TO PLAY WITH VALLEJO CLUB

VALLEJO, Jan. 12.—Harry Grayson, former crack hurler of the University of Nevada baseball team, has arrived in this city—his home town—and if his present plans are carried out he will be a resident of Vallejo from now on. He is a ball player of considerable note and is expected to be made an addition of the Vallejo team when it is organized this spring.

Unless some live baseball general gets busy pretty soon, Vallejo will be fishing for a catcher for the local team during the coming season. Vallejo has been woefully weak in this department of the game during the last two seasons.

From reports that are current in baseball circles, "Gabby" Rockstraw, the tall received of last year's Vallejos, is being sought after by more than one outside team and it is given out that he may hook up with one of them during the next few weeks if the local game does not pick up.

GRANDE TO FIGHT DEVERE IN KANSAS

VALLEJO, Jan. 12.—Sailor Charlie Grande writes local friends that he is not to fight Al Norton, who defeated Tom McMahon at Kansas City this month, but states that on the evening of the 14th he will hook up with Bob Devere, another white hope who hails Kansas as his home town. Devere is a strapping big fellow, who tips the Fairbanks around 195 pounds, and from the newspaper clippings received here the K. O. miller is pretty well thought of around his birthplace.

LUCE WANTS ASSURANCE THAT TWO BIG TOWNS ARE INTERESTED IN LEAGUE

Manager Billie Luce of the Richmond Elks is pursuing a watchful waiting policy in regard to the entrance of the Elks into the State League. Luce admits that he wants to be shown before he puts the local club in the state organization.

The State League cannot hope to go through unless Stockton and Sacramento are in the league. These two towns will be the backbone of the league. At the meeting in San Francisco neither Stockton or Sacramento were represented. This has been explained by the fact that Charles Graham of Sacramento was not notified about the meeting. Buck Francis, the Stockton representative, had private business to attend to, and could not be present.

Lou Schroeder, who is the most active in the plans for the organization of the league, states that both of these men will be in attendance at the meeting to be held here a week from Sunday.

Something definite must be accomplished at Sunday's meeting if Richmond is to enter the league. Luce is averse to waiting for details too long. He is anxious to know exactly where he stands.

The enthusiasm and interest of Sacramento and Stockton are indispensable to the success of the State League. If these two towns are interested in the league, and send their delegates to the meeting here, then Richmond is interested.

If the other towns on the circuit are not interested, it is a cinch that Richmond is not.

Luce will pursue the watchful waiting policy until a week from Sunday. On that day the policy comes to a finish. He must know something definite.

BODIE SIGNS 1915 CONTRACT

"Ping" Bodie, Vallejo's fence buster, sends word that he has signed his 1915 contract with the White Sox, calling for a substantial increase in pay, and that he is prepared to meet his teammates as soon as they reach California for the training season.

WOODS WILL PLAY AGAIN

VALLEJO, Jan. 12.—Bullet Woods, otherwise known to the diamond followers of this city as Jeff, was announced that he had decided to take another whirl at the great national pastime again this year. Jeff's injured ankle, which has held him out of the game for over a year, has sufficiently mended to allow him taking a chance at the old stand.

Why not have a city league composed of lodge teams, which will play their games Sunday morning? A league of this kind would serve to keep the interest in the good old game at a high pitch all of the time.

Anyhow, this is nearly the middle of January. Remember, Bill Luce said the baseball season locally would start on Sunday, February 22.

WILLIE RITCHIE TO DIET TO REDUCE

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, who is scheduled to clash with Freddie Welsh, the present title holder, in a ten-round bout in New York on the evening of February 8, announced here today that he had reduced his weight 11 pounds recently by dieting.

"Two weeks ago," said Ritchie yesterday, "I was fat, but I'm rapidly getting into form. I adopted a system of dieting and cut out luncheon entirely. In addition, I go through a form of exercising every morning, which is a big assistance. When I get into the ring for Welsh, I will not be as heavy as a great many people figure."

SPORTING GOULASH

"Brick" Devereaux, new captain and third baseman of the Elks, who was in town yesterday afternoon, stated that he will go to work here today or tomorrow. Devereaux will move his family to this city.

Devereaux can't see any class to this rain. The only kind of weather he likes is baseball weather. He is anxious to get a few early workouts.

Judging from the bunches of baseball news that are drifting this way from Vallejo, the Navy Yard city proposes to have a fast ball club this year.

"Mickey" Carroll, Bill Oliver and Jimmy Connel, Vallejo boys, all well known to Richmond fans, have come to terms with Helms Cammerer, and the trio will be with the Crockett club this season. Crockett will take on the fastest semi-pro clubs in this part of the state.

Don't mind this rain. The baseballers will get busy next month. The ball teams of Stanford, California, St. Mary's and Santa Clara are already working out whenever the weather will permit.

Oroville Bill James, premier pitcher of the Boston Braves, world's champions, who is wintering in Oroville, has received a token of recognition for his part in winning the world's series in the form of a title button presented by the National Commission to each member of the winning club. The button is of gold, set with a large diamond. On it is engraved the words, "World's Champions, 1914."

James denies rumors that have been current of late to the effect that he contemplates jumping to the Federals.

Midget Childs, Richmond boy, who is signed to play with the Elks this season, has been chosen captain of the St. Mary's College nine. The selection of Childs to lead the St. Mary's nine is a tribute to his play ability and his dome work. Childs succeeds "Loney Lou" Galt, giant first baseman, as captain.

It's enough to give a fellow heart-ache to reel off a bunch of baseball junk, and then look out the window and see the rain still continuing.

It's much better to have your little $2.50 or $3 a day job right now than it is to be a ham and egg batter stranded in California. It's a long way to Milwaukee.

If you favor Richmond's entrance into the State League, get in and boost. Everything depends on the support of the fans. Manager Luce considers their wishes in the matter paramount.

The amateur four-rounders in San Francisco and Oakland are getting ready to get into action. What a change. Talk amateur bouts to a dyed-in-the-wool fight fan three months ago and he would laugh at you. Now he has to take the best he can get. Curses. When they put the crusher on the fight game in California they killed one of the state's most famous institutions.

RABIES NOT STAMPED OUT SAYS SMITH

"Rabies has not been stamped out in Richmond by any means," said Poundmaster Smith yesterday. "The ultimatum I handed down several days ago, to the effect that all dogs found unmuzzled after January 20 will be taken to the pound is a precautionary measure."

Smith declared that on Monday he killed a brown collie dog infected with rabies. It is not known who owned the canine.

Any dog that has froth running out of its mouth, or that has a small bump under its jaws, is to be regarded with suspicion, declares Smith. He asks that those who see dogs thus affected immediately notify him.

RAT CATCHING ABILITY HALTS EXECUTION

One valuable Spitz dog, picked up by Poundmaster Smith several days ago, owes its existence today to its ability to catch rats.

Smith intended to kill the canine yesterday, after waiting several days in vain for the owner to show up.

Preparations were being made for the execution, when a big rat ran across the floor of the pound. The dog saw the rat before Smith did.

Breaking away from its captors, the dog bounded across the floor, caught the rat, and neatly broke its neck. Then it trotted back to Smith, wagging its tail.

Smith has decided that a dog that can kill rats like the Spitz is too valuable to kill. Last night he gave it a good treat on the rats, with the result that an even half dozen of the rodents that have been infesting the pound, were killed.

If the Spitz dies now it will be from old age or some dog infirmity, and not from any dose administered by Smith.

WRIGHT GIVEN REST BY CHIEF

Because Chief Walker does not believe in compelling his patrolmen to walk their beats while they are suffering from painful injuries, Patrolman Sam Wright, who was injured in a collision between the auto of Carlson, the grocer, and the delivery wagon of L. H. Schrader, on Tuesday night, was given a rest yesterday. Wright went to San Francisco on some police business. He will be unable to be back at his beat before the end of the week. His thumb, which was cut by flying glass, is not healing as rapidly as it should.

DECIDES JITNEY BUSINESS DOES NOT PAY IN RICHMOND WHEN BIG AUTOS ARE USED

With the forming of an association of jitney bus owners in San Francisco and the mapping out of plans to still more thoroughly cover that city and the proposal of a transfer system, comes the news of the decision of one local firm that the business does not pay in Richmond.

It is explained that the cost of upkeep of larger autos overbalances the receipts. Because of the large territory that has to be covered, tire expense is perhaps the biggest item.

Kershner & Conn, who have been operating two buses, have decided to discontinue the business for the above reasons. J. P. Arnold has decided to substitute for his large car three Fords, which will soon be delivered to him.

A. L. Pearson, the west side jitney bus magnate, declares the business is paying him well and that he will continue in it. Pearson runs a Ford.
